The Conditions

We had a bit of an exchange this week. We sent our RA Hopeless to England and in exchange we got English weather. A trough of low pressure centered over Hainan Island brought us warm bands of moisture deluging Hong Kong creating horrendous conditions for the hapless hashers who struggled to find A, considering the lack of markings and the dodgy hash notices put out by the hare raiser.

The Warm-Up

Under a leaky half-hazard shelter, the hashers gathered for what was sure to be another Motormouth debacle. Due to the lack of facilities, we were subject to such obscenities as Haggis dropping his drawers. There was no water. Happy Valley couldn't find Happy Valley. The GM was nervous that four pm was fast approaching with no hare, wondering what the protocol would be if a no show. Smallbone was disgusted, what to do?

Finally Motormouth turned up with no water and informed us we were under the wrong leaky half hazard shelter, the correct one being 100 yards (meters) away. The advertised surprise hare really was surprised to find out that he was the hare. But off went Captain Pubic, flour in bag. Motormouth then attempted to hail a taxi whose driver was asleep, failed to wake him up -amazingly- and we all threw our bags into another taxi. Smarter hashers such as Smallbone took this opportunity to get in another taxi and desert this sinking ship.

The Theme

Yes, we had a theme. The theme was Motormouth's youth, when Vicky was queen, Albert wore funny jewelry, and the British had this thing they called an empire and Hong Kong was a part of it. We were meant to use this hash to count boundary posts from 1903.

The Run

Knowing that a Wanchai wimps run is no longer than 45 min. to allow hashers to work off a bit of the weeks excesses , but not so long as to take into account our previous night hangovers. I confidently left with the pack as we left Happy Valley.

We gained a lot of altitude as we did a semi-orbit around the Happy Valley racetrack before being flung out into deep space somewhere beyond Pluto -Kennedy Town to be exact.

We spent much time on Bowen Rd. and Hatton Rd. and Po Shan Rd. And Morning Trail. Along the way, I got to spend quality hash time with Bite and Suck, Big P, Gorgonzollo, Cunter Ass Thompson, Verbal Diarrhea, Happy Valley and her male hash friend Happy Harry.

And then two and a half hours later it was all over. Well done hares, a perfect way to spend a beautiful Sunday afternoon.

The On-On

As the planned on-on wasn't really planned, we fell back on one of our old back-ups, the dumpling place in Wanchai. But it seems to be losing its favor as only nine of us showed up. Sure people had great excuses for not going. The GM and her Boyfriend don't eat dumplings. Bean Counter was having a "private" on-on with our two new Filipina hashers Rowena and Imelda. Cunter Ass Thompson only eats Kabobs when he comes to Hong Kong and Nancy Boy had to locate his wife Fishy Fingers who he lost in one of the bars earlier in the afternoon. Etc, etc.

The venue did allow for Motormouth to air her many grievances of the day to whoever would listen, i.e. me the scribe for the hash record. These seemed to be mostly directed at Haggis the Horrible who had turned Virgin Mary against her and generally ruined her perfect day.

I had a nice conversation with F3M about the Tudor's who we agreed were really Welsh and made English history interesting by having lots of sex. F3M also told Virgin Mary that she would intercede on her behalf to the RA to have her name changed to Bloody Mary as this is what you are when no longer a virgin.

And with that yet another hash is in the books. Thanks to everyone who helped put it together!
